SUMMARY

Computer Science student with paid graphic design experience and Codex-assisted Python application projects. Seeking entry-level Python automation and integration roles, with a focus on reliable workflows, inspectable state and clear operator interfaces.

PERSONAL PROJECTS

Personal projects developed with Codex assistance.

FlowLedger | Auditable workflow automation service

- Python/FastAPI service with typed event routing, SQLite durable outbox, approvals, exponential retries, dead-letter replay and lease-token fencing.
- Passed 9/9 local SQLite experiments: 12 concurrent repeated submissions created one job; eight workers completed 16 jobs with zero duplicate local cases.
- Real subprocess exits after case commit and before acknowledgement recovered one case on first and final attempts; an independent polling worker processed five jobs.

EvidenceDesk | Evidence-grounded support knowledge workbench

- Python/FastAPI knowledge service with atomic source revisions, duplicate detection, stale-write conflict handling, deletion and auditable citation snapshots.
- On a 26-case synthetic holdout, MiniLM/BM25 hybrid retrieved the expected source for 14/18 answerable queries versus 11/18 for BM25; refused 8/8 unsupported/adversarial queries.
